WASHINGTON, March 6.—Taking personal command of the administration's "business appeasement" drive, President Roosevelt today began a series of conferences out of which may develop an administration policy for the remainder of the session of congress.

Seek "Business Recovery"
Congressional leaders informed Mr. Roosevelt that New Deal members of congress are anxious to cooperate with the administration while the Democratic "business recovery" bloc planned to push for action regardless of the administration's attitude.

Fresh from his southern trip with the fleet, Mr. Roosevelt planned to confer with Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau on tax revision and debt limit expansion, to meet rival labor groups tomorrow, and to discuss with Secretary of Commerce Hopkins his program to encourage business.

National Defense Program Concentrated In Senate

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 6.—President Roosevelt's national defense program was concentrated in the senate today, in varied stages of progress toward enactment.

While the $358,000,000 army expansion bill neared the voting stage, the naval affairs committee started hearings on the $65,000,000 naval air base bill providing, among other things, for $5,000,000 for military improvements on the Pacific island of Guam. The appropriations committee began consideration of the half-billion dollar regular war department appropriation bill, which the house passed Friday.

Passage of the army expansion bill is expected tomorrow or Wednesday, after economy advocates win or lose their battle to limit the air corps total strength to 5,500 fighting planes. This limit was provided in the house bill but the senate military affairs committee increased the limit to 6,000.

Bitter debate over national defense policies was expected to be made on the navy's proposal to give Guam $5,000,000 worth of airplane landing facilities. The house rejected it after heated debate over the wisdom of "fortifying" a possession 3,000 miles from America's coastlines, and only 1,500 miles from Japan.

Katherine Hepburn Gives Policeman Tongue-Thrashing

(International News Service)

WILMINGTON, Del., March 6.—Delaware state policeman Joseph J. Shannon today held the dubious distinction of receiving "the tongue-thrashing of my life" from stage and film actress Katherine Hepburn.

Shannon said the actress "acted like a little wildcat" when he stopped her and three companions enroute in their automobile to Baltimore. "I thought she was too young to drive," he explained, "and then I found out. Miss Hepburn had no driver's license."

Taken before a Gordon Heights magistrate, Miss Hepburn was given until March 19 to produce her license and surrendered $13.50 bail. She is currently appearing in the stage play, "The Philadelphia Story."

New Secretary To President Is Appointed

Roosevelt Names His Military Aide As His Personal Secretary

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 6.—President Roosevelt today announced appointment of his military aide, Col. Edwin M. Watson, as secretary to the President, filling the vacancy left in the secretariat when the executive's eldest son, James Roosevelt, resigned to enter the movie industry.

The appointment will become effective April 1 or 2.

As still a further honor to his genial and capable aide, Mr. Roosevelt intends to ask Congress to elevate him to the rank of brigadier-general before he retires from the army on his own application.

Watson, an Alabamian, has 33 years of military service behind him, and stands at the head of the list of colonels with a "superior" rating. He became military aide to Mr. Roosevelt on inauguration day and has been with him constantly since—an unusual tour of duty in that aides usually are changed every two years.

Between now and the first of April Col. Watson will take over the office vacated by James Roosevelt last September when he became ill and from which he resigned November 15, in order to become familiar with the duties of Liaison secretary.

Swope Urges U. S. Go Slowly On Old Age Assistance

Says Present Payments Are About All We Can Afford At Present Time

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Company today urged congress not to increase old age assistance payments because, he said, payments now were about all we can afford at the present time.

Testifying before the house ways and means committee, Swope said: "Everyone is talking about reducing our expenses. We have made a very good beginning on old age assistance at the $15 a month level. It is hardly time to increase that assistance."

The federal government now offers $15 a month old age assistance payments if the states match them.

"It is much better to go easy at first," Swope cautioned, "and $15 is about all we can afford now."

Rev. Cooper (D) Tennessee asked Swope if he believed $15 as the federal government's share was "sufficient."

"I don't know about it being sufficient," the witness replied. "But it's about all we can afford at the present time."

President May Suggest Peace Plan For Labor

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 6.—President Roosevelt will flatly insist that the A. F. of L. and the CIO make peace, it became known today on the eve of the opening of the peace parleys arranged between the two rival labor organizations.

The president, who will start the conferences at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow by greeting the A. F. of L. and CIO three-man committees in the White House, will accept no excuses for failure of the peace talks, it was said. Rumors that the president was prepared to issue "a plague on both your houses" statement, or an appeal to the rank and file for new labor leadership if the conferences collapse, were emphatically denied in administration circles.

"There will be no failure," an administration spokesman said. "This led to reports in labor circles that the president himself may be prepared to suggest a peace plan if the committees cannot reach one of their own."

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins also held to the view there ultimately would be labor peace as an outgrowth of the impending conferences, despite the fact that the A. F. of L. and the CIO seemed as far apart as the poles in their differences.

Pittsburgh Girl Will Be Performer At Fete In Berlin

Second American Dancer To Appear Before Hitler In Fortnight

(International News Service)

BERLIN, March 6.—Nineteen-year-old Miriam Verne of Pittsburgh, whose dancing so pleased Chancellor Adolf Hitler that he gave her a large box of candy, will be the star performer at a fete to be given tomorrow by Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels.

The American dancer—the second dancer from the United States to appear before the fuhrer in a fortnight—won warm praise from Hitler for her performance before a party of 600 guests at the new chancellery.

After the dark-haired American girl had danced, she was called to Hitler's table. Handing her a large box of candy which also contained a golden swastika, Hitler said: "Your dancing was simply wonderful."

The other American girl who danced before Hitler was 19-year-old Marion Daniels of San Francisco in a performance of "The Merry Widow" given at Munich.

Pitt Accepts Resignation Of Football Coach

Chancellor Bowman Accepts Dr. Sutherland's Resignation With Regret

By WILLIAM THEIS
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, March 6.—The long-feared break that football-conscious Pittsburgh somehow never believed in the cards—Dr. John B. "Jock" Sutherland's resignation as head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh—was made official and final today.

With "real regret" and with "high respect, good will and good wishes," declared Chancellor John G. Bowman formally announced acceptance of the resignation terminating Sutherland's 15-year coaching term at Pitt.

There was evident reluctance in the parting on both sides. For "Jock" it was the severance of a tie that covers 19 years of Pitt football—four as a player, 15 as the coach who made all-Americans and championship teams a by-word at the Pittsburgh institution.

For the university, the withdrawal spelled the loss of the man who brought "powerhouse" football to Pitt and kept it there, with a record second only to that of the late Knute Rockne.

For Pitt students and alumni, it marked the end of an era in the institution's football history.

Whether Sutherland would accept any other coaching post immediately remained in serious question. He has an offer to go to Mississippi State college but was understood not to have acted upon it.

GENERAL CASADO NEW STRONG MAN

Basis On Which He Seeks Peace For Spain Is Outlined By Radio

(BULLETIN)

MADRID, March 6.—In a surprise peace move, even more dramatic and unforeseen than the bloodless coup-d'etat by which he seized power from Premier Juan Negrin, the Madrid regime's new strong man, General Segismundo Casado, today addressed a radio broadcast to Spaniards in the territory under the control of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The Spaniards of the Franco areas were told by Gen. Casado, head of the new six-man national defense council, that their "Republican brothers" are "seeking peace on the basis of conciliation, independence and liberty."

Free Of Foreign Influence

"We are fighting for nothing for which we ourselves do not desire," declared Casado in an apparent repudiation of the influence of foreign nations and foreign ideologies over the Madrid regime.

"We want the nation to be free of foreign influence and unfettered by the imperialist ambitions of other nations."

"If you offer peace, our hearts will generously respond. If you continue waging war, we will fight to the death."

Plane Strikes Water-Tower On Outskirts Of East Northport, N. Y.

(International News Service)

EAST NORTHPORT, N. Y., March 6.—Two men, pilot and passenger in a small monoplane, were killed instantly today when their craft crashed into a water-tower on the outskirts of this village, bounced off and hit a telephone pole and finally dived into a strip of scrub pine fringing a vacant lot.

They were identified tentatively as Alfred Beach, Jr., 23, of Glendale, Long Island, and William Danhardt, 17, of Woodhaven, L. I. The plane was so badly wrecked that rescuers had to cut through the fuselage before the bodies could be taken out. It was believed that weather conditions caused the crash which occurred during a dense fog and rain squalls.

There's an old time one I'm thinking everybody should be drinking, it's a sure little fizzer for most every lad and lass, it's the bark you get by hunting and much digging and much grunting, it's the bark you get in springtime from the good old sassafras. Senate May Not Confirm Appointees

Retaliation Is Seen In Stand

Ousting Of Democratic Senator May Result In Hold-up On Appointments

LEGISLATURE WILL RECONVENE TONIGHT

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, March 6.—As the legislature prepared to reconvene tonight following a week-end recess, Gov. Arthur H. James was faced with the possibility that the senate may refuse to confirm his appointees in retaliation for the ousting of a Democratic senator.

Democratic senators were reported to have agreed not to confirm important appointees if Sen. Herbert S. Levin, Philadelphia, is permanently ousted from the senate. Levin last week was ordered to stand aside pending a report by the senate elections committee on his election contest with Samuel W. Salus, former dean of senate. Republicans, whom Common Pleas Judge Thomas D. Finletter declared elected by one legal vote.

Appointees May Have To Wait
Unless the Republican majority in the upper chamber can obtain nine Democratic votes to make up the required two-thirds vote of 34 necessary for confirmation it would appear that Governor James' appointees will have to wait until adjournment before being able to take over their duties. Governor James could then re-appoint them and they could serve pending the next session.

Gubernatorial appointees who require senatorial confirmation before they can take their posts include: Judge William E. Hirt of Erie county as judge of the superior court; John Higgins Jr., of Warren, as a member of the Public Utility commission; Maj. Lynn G. Adams of Harrisburg as motor police commissioner; John R. Jones as judge of the Philadelphia municipal court; and Leon L. Rains, Philadelphia, as a member of the State Athletic commission.

Other Vacancies
Important vacancies still to be filled by Governor James include: A chairman of the State Liquor Control board, a member of the Public Utility commission, and a member of the Turnpike commission.

Refusal of Democratic senators to go along on confirmation is also expected to cause Sheriff William J. Hamilton of Philadelphia to delay taking over his duties as secretary of revenue in order to balk a Democrat, next in line, in case the senate refused to confirm his successor, from taking over his present post.

China plans to construct over 4,000 miles of new railway lines.

assured as a result of pledges by Morgenthau and chairmen of the senate and house fiscal committees to start a study in April. While Mr. Roosevelt decreed the death-knell for experimental legislation which might hamper business expansion, a battle with the "economy bloc" in congress over relief expenditures appeared inevitable.

The president is expected to send a special message to congress this week reiterating his request that that emergency WPA fund of $725,000,000 be increased to $875,000,000. Leaders in the "economy bloc" who forced a reduction of $150,000,000 in the fund early in the session may seek to make an issue out of the president's request, which will also affect the attitude of congress on relief appropriations for the entire next fiscal year, starting July 1.

SURPRISE PEACE MOVE DEVELOPS FOLLOWING COUP

demonstration of the Madrid regime's determination to rid Spain of foreign influence, a six-man national defense council, headed by General Segismundo Casado, today held the reins of power in Madrid, seized from Premier Juan Negrin in a bloodless coup d'etat.

Frankly admitting the utter hopelessness of winning the war against Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco, the council of desperate military and leftist leaders proclaimed the intention of the regime "to fight to the last drop" to assure "the independence of Spain and the expulsion of all foreigners."

"It is essential," a manifesto declared, "that in defeat we should show our real strength."

"The moral victory which the Republicans might yet win would be worth more than peace gained by limping concessions."

The overthrow of Negrin was accomplished speedily and without bloodshed a few hours after the premier issued a decree taking over personal command of the Madrid regime's five armies, and dissolving the command of the central and southern areas.

The dramatic revolt took place just as the Franco government broadcast reports of a successful rebellion against the Madrid authorities at the port of Cartagena, and urged Madrid to surrender rather than continue a hopeless struggle.

Though Madrid denied the Cartagena rebellion, the fact that one of Negrin's last acts was the appointment of Colonel Francisco Galan as commander at the Cartagena naval base was seen as confirming the Burgos version.

Criticize Negrin

In removing Negrin, the council bitterly criticized him and his supporters for their "evident incapacity" and accused them of having followed a policy of "temporization" in the hope that the international situation would produce a "war of disastrous proportions."

The manifesto, issued by General Casado, commander of the Madrid military zone, who now emerges as the strong man of the regime, indicated that Negrin had been prevented from leaving the country. Early this morning, it was reported, he and several of the members of his cabinet were permitted to go to an unnamed town in the Levante district.

The council was declared to have the full support of the army, the left Republicans, the Socialists and Anarchists. Its members include General Jose Miaja, hero of the defense of Madrid, Julian Besteiro, Socialist leader, Col. Cipriano Niro spokesman of the army and representatives of trade union and anarcho-syndicalist groups.

FAITH

When a person needs the service of a doctor, dentist or other professional man, do they look around to find one who needs the money, or do they look for one that is able to give them good service?

We often hear the expression of people, that they patronize so and so because they thought they needed the business, or in other words, the money.

Then why should anyone try to improve his services and be a tax-paying citizen, if he is going to lose his business by doing so?

CULTIVATING APPETITE FOR MILK

Experts in nutrition now advise that every child should have a quart of milk a day. Thanks to the modern public health agencies, community chest programs and programs of state and federal relief, hundreds and thousands of growing children, never before so nourished, are now getting ample quantities of milk. Slowly the average person is learning that about the cheapest food is milk, and the average child at school is learning the food value of milk.

Paradoxically enough, children on the farm often consume far less milk than their poorer city cousins. And how cheap milk is on the farm! The same is true of eggs. The farmer knows he can get cash for eggs and milk. With this cash he buys canned foods far more costly, less palatable and many times less nutritious.

Equally tragic is the fact that many children of the middle-economic class and well-to-do don't consume nearly enough milk merely because they choose to drink little or none of it. They have no appetite for milk because their parents have failed to cultivate this appetite in them or have destroyed it.

Dislike of milk rarely develops in the child before the age of two or three. As in other food dislikes, it probably would never occur if the mother didn't try so hard to make the youngster drink more milk than he wanted; certainly if she had expressed no emotion over the matter. Of course, you can, by cooking many foods with milk, get the child to take a good deal of it, but not enough. Anyway, why put yourself to so much bother?

One Method
It sometimes cultivates the young child's appetite for milk to have a small pitcher and cup with which he can pour the milk himself. It certainly does harm to keep nagging or coaxing. And think of the trouble it causes mothers who will read stories, play the piano, sing or do anything to get the child to take milk. I could make some confessions as a father which would make you laugh, but I won't. What I am about to advise worked, however, with two of our children who de-murmed on milk.

Place before the child, in a small cup or glass, a small amount of milk, just more than several tablespoons full. Tell her that after she has drunk it she will have other foods. Don't command her to drink the milk; let her choose that or nothing. If after five minutes she has not consumed the milk, remove it and let her leave the table, with the understanding she will have no other food until the next meal. Then proceed as before and so on. After a few meals or a few days you may win, if you have a spine.

Those two children of ours, after such an ordeal, began to like milk and now, in their early twenties, are very fond of it.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THREE BEARS

If you were able to lasso and capture the live Polar Bear and further, if you were able to transport that bear to the United States, you would have no trouble of disposing of him.

Pilot Harold Gilliam last fall rescued three Polar Bears from an ice floe off Point Barrow and brought them in his plane to Seattle. Those three bears constituted a dilemma to Pan-American Airways. Main-tenance charges severely strained Mr. Gilliam's resources, while the ferociousness of the bears brought threats of Gilliam's banishment from the state of Washington.

In an effort to prevent extreme measures, Pan American agreed to make a public offering of the three bears while United Air Lines co-operated by offering free transportation to any point in the United States.

Much to the amazement of everyone, the subscriptions received indicated a probable demand for ninety of the big white beasts from the Arctic. The three bears were very heavily over-subscribed, but the officials of Pan American have refused to answer any questions regarding possibility of their undertaking to supply the unified demand for prime "Thalartos Maritimus."

Believe it or not, the last two words in the preceding paragraph is the true scientific appellation for a Polar Bear.

PIUS XI
Seal the stone about his clay,
"Grave it with his name;
Cut thereon his natal day;
Tell when parting came:
Little stone do or say
To increase his fame.

Sleeping with the vicars there,
Leave him now for aye!
Done with all the bitter care
Of life's fretful day;
Tone the crown of Christ to wear,
With the saints to stay.

Deeper far than stone can bear
Hearts by love are stirred.
Longer, longer, they can wear
Something faintly heard.
So within us lives his prayer,
Peace, his final word.

EDDIE SIMS IS MUCH MORE INTERESTED IN BECOMING A RADIO ANNOUNCER

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:57. Sun rises tomorrow 6:26.

It has been announced that the Department of Justice is investigating the fertilizer industry. Certainly they don't think there is something smelly about the fertilizer business in this country, do they?

Down in Tarentum according to theatre manager, an irate woman came to the box office in search of a "two-timing husband." To appease her, an announcement was made over the loud-speaking apparatus during an intermission, that if he didn't come out, she was coming in after him, and four men got up and left the theatre, leaving feminine companions behind.

Americanism: Youth vainly searching for opportunity; giving up enormously rich and underpopulated islands where Japs find opportunity unlimited.

State Tariffs Given Setback
Supreme Court Against Ideas
Florida Provides Last Straw

CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Several state legislatures have been trying, for a number of years past, to hit on some scheme for establishing an inter-state protective tariff system in this country. Thus, crassly expressed, of course it's an unconstitutional idea. The inter-state protectionists, however, have sought to disguise it in a fashion to fool the supreme court into giving it the high tribunal's endorsement. The other day the august bench served notice that it isn't one little bit flim-flammed—that it fully comprehends the nefarious nature of the various local legislatures' attempted funny-business and won't stand for it for a minute.

Justice Felix Frankfurter, the latest addition to the group of "nine old men," handed down the opinion, and it was a deal more significant than it received immediate credit for being. The decision was rendered the same day that the old men handed a succession of three or four severe kicks in the pants to the National Labor Relation Board, and repercussions from the Labor Board, and those interested in it, pro and contra, pretty well drowned out simultaneous repercussions from the Frankfurter ruling.

All the same, it's hard to over-estimate the importance of the latter finding.

Trade Barriers
The nub of the thing is this: Our founding fathers recognized the deadening economic effects of barriers erected at trade bottlenecks (usually international but occasionally intra-national) involving the payment of tribute at the crossing of boundaries. Into our fundamental law they introduced the principle that no such levies might be exacted between our states.

The rule worked admirably. The U. S. A. has been the largest wholly free-trade area on earth, and the most prosperous, even in bad commercial times. It has suffered, with others, from international restrictions, but internally it has thrived from its unrestricted flow of traffic from state to state.

In the last few years this freedom has been threatened. For one thing, individual states have been imposing sales taxes. If a citizen of state "A," for example, made a purchase, he had to pay a tax on it. That was all right if he lived in the center of state "A." But if he lived just across the line from state "B," which had no such tax, his inclination was to do his buying in state "B," and bring his stuff into "A" for consumption.

State "A's" disposition was to protect against such importations.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Chichester, N. Y., a town of generations of woodworkers, on the auction block a few weeks ago, gets a new lease on life. There's a deal on which will reopen the furniture factory. When the hungry citizens heard the good news, the first thing they said was, "Now we can open up the bowling alley." That's interesting, because the spot that Rip Van Winkle picked out for his 20-year nap is only around the corner from Chichester and this mountain country. No wonder they take to bowling.

When Rip returned, his wife's new husband said, "Give him a cold potato and send him away." If he had slept for 150 instead of 20 years, he might have found folks more friendly, but he would be lucky to get a cold potato after more than a century of industrial progress. He probably would have gone to sleep again, hoping to wake up in a day when a skilled craftsman might earn a living.

Company towns of mining, lumber, agriculture, have employed migratory and seasonal labor of widely varied national derivations, but lightly rooted in American soil and tradition. Here at Chichester is a carry-over into the power age of Walt Whitman's stalwart Americans who broke the soil, owned their tools, applied their varied skills, paid their debts and took no back talk from anybody. Perhaps they stayed too long. Even with the wheels turning again, the town is still up for sale—and that means the home of every man in it, the church and general store, the boss mansion, the factory, the school, social and recreation halls and their belching bowling alley. If, as you read this, you are sitting on a chair of exceptionally fine craftsmanship, it is possible that it was made by the Chichester workers. For four or five generations they have been making furniture like that, for well-to-do people all over the world.

The increase in farm and home tenancy and sharecropping has been a disquieting trend of latter-day America. But the company-town is now passing. There are fewer of them in each decade. Independence and home ownership have proven a better stimulus to productivity and good citizenship. An observing friend of this writer, who recently toured the south, tells me that the textile industry, long the stronghold of this form of industrial community, is beginning to encourage town ownership and organization entirely independent of the company. He quoted one North Carolina manufacturer substantially as follows:

"Industrial paternalism doesn't work out any better than governmental paternalism. We are coming to believe that both are unmitigated evils. Company towns grew up in an effort to cut down labor turnover and unrest and to give us social controls which we believed were necessary for stability in the industry and good for the workers."

Some company towns have been well and honestly managed, providing many educational recreational services which the workers might not have enjoyed otherwise. Others have been bad in every way with wretched housing and exorbitant prices at the company store. In my opinion it hasn't worked out in either case—good or bad. There is absolutely no substitute for free home ownership, free business and the hope of some gain and security all around. I predict that in a few years the company town will be a thing of the past in the textile regions."

In the deep hillbilly regions of the mountains, the people never have taken kindly to company towns and never liked to see their sons and daughters move into them. Nor do they take kindly to the federal housing and reclamation projects. A patch of shallow soil and a tumbling down cabin, distressing as both may seem in the light of decent living standards, are prized as a better way of life, because they are their own—as poor as it may be, it is their own.

No one with any concern for human dignity and welfare will defend such conditions, yet this stubborn survival of the pioneer spirit is something which government and industry might ponder as the great national housing drive gathers momentum.

The Berry schools in the south have achieved much by a tactful regard for this intense individualism in early American Scotch-Irish stock. Government housing hasn't reached down to the little roadside cabin yet, with all the millions that have been spent. Isn't it possible that it may be done by education, by somehow loosening a flow of credit, by a stimulus to agriculture, by diversified farming and other such devices, rather than by huge direct subsidies and their attendant paternalism? A company town is a company town, whether the boss is an industrial padrone or Uncle Sam running one by those huge housing projects.

Bible Thought For Today

When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory. Col. 3:4.

No matter how homely, a married woman may be, she always wonders why on earth this or that celebrity married such a homely girl.

FOR THE ICC, NOT CONGRESS, TO DECIDE

BILLS introduced by Southern senators and representatives to eliminate existing rate differentials, as between goods moving northward from their territory and those shipped from the Northern section, should be given short shrift by congress.

This legislation would be highly injurious to industries of Pennsylvania and adjoining states. But in addition to this important consideration these bills represent a vicious principle: an attempt to gain preferential treatment through political action, instead of leaving questions of freight rates where they belong. That is with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Present differentials are based on distance and volume of traffic, costs of production, including wages, and other sound considerations. Justification is found for lower rates in the North and East in the cheaper production enjoyed by Southern industries.

This question has been frequently and thoroughly discussed before the Interstate Commerce Commission. The proposal to supersede the ICC's discretion by arbitrary action of congress comes at a time when the trend of opinion is toward giving the railroads more and not less power to fix their own rates.

These bills should be killed, not only because of their prejudicial sectional nature, says the Philadelphia Inquirer, but because their enactment would open the way to more political interference by congress in matters that properly are none of its business.

THE PASSING OF WINTER

People say they regret the passing of time, particularly the older folks. But no one seems to regret the passing of winter. So even the old folks, who have not many years to go, are glad to see old January and February pulled off the calendar sheets, and dropped into time's oblivion.

Perhaps if we had a little better philosophy, we should not be so sour on winter. Winter is the time of social life, when the country is full of happy crowds gathered for sparkling pleasures. It is the time when you can get people together to act on the needs of the community. It is hard to round them up in summer, when they are scattered all over the land on vacations, and in sporting affairs.

The country might make less progress if we had 12 months of the good old summer time.

SCOPE OF HIDDEN TAXES

When you purchase an automobile, you are paying 345 different taxes.

When you buy a pound of sugar or a loaf of bread, you are shouldering approximately 50 different levies—each small, to be sure, but in the aggregate comprising a considerable portion of the total price.

These facts, contained in a current report of the National Research Committee, offer new evidence of the extent to which indirect, hidden taxes affect the cost of living.

Viewed from the angle of the general tax burden and its bearing upon every citizen, governmental economy and tax reduction loom as being of vital consequence for the nation at large.

Let no one assume that the demand for prudence in public administration is voiced only in the interest of the rich. If answered affirmatively, it would be a boon to every household in America, increasing the purchasing power of earned income in noteworthy degree.

THERE MAY BE GIANTS IN THOSE DAYS

Because of a congenial glandular maladjustment, Robert Wadlow of Alton, Illinois, has been growing at an amazing rate until now, when just turned 21, hence legally a man, he is eight feet eight and one-half inches tall, a physical man and then some. Wisely, he does not commercialize or grieve over his affliction. Keeping himself in size 37 shoes and bending to enter doorways are among numerous worries, but he remains a cheerful and likeable young man, ambitious to earn a normal living in a normal way.

Scientists aren't quite sure yet just how to control glands which control man's height. Once they find out, they may be able to take a tubby five-footer and add a few cubits to his stature and many more to his mental attitude. Anthropologists of late have surmised that all men and women are growing taller by generations, but this is involuntary. Men still have to accept the bodies they get.

It is plausible to expect them, at some future time to become as tall or as short as they wish by taking certain pills, Alice fashion, and muscle. Some might decide to become as tall as Robert Wadlow, or certain exercises. Some might aspire to be giants, mighty of frame if only to talk back to the boss with impunity. The most unhappy mortals then would be those who simply couldn't make up their minds whether to grow or to shrink.

A trainer says apes are excited by each new possession, but soon lose interest. It sounds strangely familiar.

Dora says the movie girls who try to hide behind smoked spectacles can drop out of sight entirely with the new invisible glass.

The thing overlooked by cranks is that capital is canned labor. Jones has $1000 to invest because he earned it and didn't spend it.

A venerable newspaperman in the West gives his recipe for longevity. At the age of 40 he swore off feeling responsible for the human race.

An unusual ad gives us photos of the 1939 bathing suit without the girl. This is to explode the theory that the whole thing had become an optical illusion.

Freedom: One individual, corporation or government agency trying to achieve something; another, with equally good intentions, trying as hard to undo what has been achieved.

"I feel awful, doctor," moaned a young man to a doctor recently. "I can't eat, can't sleep, can't concentrate on any kind of work and is a positive nightmare. What do you prescribe?"
"Propose to the girl and get it over," was the doctor's reply.

Recently an East Side man went home drunk. His wife greeted him indignantly saying, "You're drunk." The man replied cooly, "You're telling me." In telling the incident to a friend the wife said, "He was so honest about it I forgave him."

Renewing the navy's recommendations for $5,000,000 in naval facilities on the tiny island close by Japan, Admiral Leahy urged the committee to include the Guam program in the $65,000,000 naval base bill now pending. The house rejected the Guam plan when it passed the measure.

Admits Germany Is Hard Pressed On Food Problem

(International News Service)
LEIPZIG, Germany, March 6.—Coupling an admission that Germany's population is hard pressed for food with a warning that aid for the Reich is the key to relief of Europe's political tensions, propaganda minister Joseph Goebbels today faced Great Britain's public with a demand for "practical" assistance.

Dramatically renewing Germany's demands for "the right to live" through "healthy" trade and colonial "justice," the propaganda minister opened the 1939 Leipzig fair with a fiery speech, heaping scorn on the democracies.

"We," he declared, "are hardly in a position to provide the German people with sufficient nourishment because Germany did not receive a fair share in the distribution of the world's resources."

"Practical measures" must be taken, he said, to help Germany, and thereby to relieve European tension.

Minister Named Grand Jury Head

Rev. John Caughey of Perry township was appointed foreman of the March grand jury today when that body met in court room number one of the Lawrence County Court House. The jury was polled at 9:15 and after three jurors were excused from duty, Judge W. Walter Braham charged them upon their duties.

The three excused from duty were Frank Meyers, tin worker, Shenango township; James Tebay, laborer of Big Beaver township, and Elizabeth Velker, housekeeper, of Shenango township.

The list of cases to be considered by the grand jury has been reduced considerably due to pleas secured by District Attorney John G. Lamoree. The one major case to be considered is that against Angeline Maravola of Hillsville, charged with the murder of Michael A. Rich, Jr., of Hillsville on February 3.

Two Drivers Are Taken By Police

Two men were arrested on charges of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated over the week-end and will face charges to that effect sometime today according to Police Chief Ralph A. Criswell.

Andrew Collins, New Castle, R. D. 1, allegedly drove his auto into the street car barn, South Beaver street, both left wheels running over the ledge of a pit, police claim.

Mud Geyser Carves Its Own Crater

(International News Service)

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo.—A yawning crater 15 feet long, 10 feet wide and at least 30 feet deep has been carved out of the floor of this famous playground this summer by a new mud geyser, Superintendent Edmund B. Rogers reported.

The geyser is the largest of its kind in the park. The rapidly with which it has dug the crater and the force with which it hurls the hot clay into the air makes it all the more unusual, Rogers said.

Gobs of steaming clay are being hurled as high as 30 feet into the air, he said.

The geyser is located in the Dragon's mouth spring vicinity within 100 yards of the Lake-to-Cannon highway and can be watched from the main road.

HURLING GRENADES NEW SOVIET SPORT

(International News Service)

MOSCOW—Russia's most popular out-door sport today is throwing dummy hand-grenades.

Calculated to build muscle and make good soldiers hand-grenade throwing, encouraged by the government, has spread like wild-fire.

Children playing in back-yards figure a direct hit at medium distance as ten dead enemies; in distance throwing accuracy counts less than length, with three dead for accuracy and five for length.

Workers enjoy the sport so much that, according to Izvestia, "special courses for athletically inclined railwaymen, desirous of learning how to throw hand-grenades were arranged some time ago in Moscow."

Hull Defends His Program

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 6.—A broad defense of the administration's reciprocal trade agreement program was presented before the senate finance committee today by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, as he opposed amendments which would raise the import duties on fish and vegetable oils.

Declaring that approval of the amendments would set a precedent "which might lead to a breaking-down" of the trade program, Hull said:

"I think that up to this time 22 nations in this hemisphere have adopted the trade agreement program and it is important for us to heed the course of these nations. They recognize that it is the only alternative to economic recovery."

PENN STATE FRAT HAS INSURANCE PLAN

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—What is believed to be the first health insurance plan in operation in any college fraternity in the United States has been inaugurated by Phi Sigma Delta at the Pennsylvania State College.

The plan guarantees its members three doctor's calls and 18 days' hospitalization for an expenditure of $4.50 a year. According to Michael Krull, senior, of Brooklyn, credited with devising the scheme, the patient may summon any physician he wishes, but the patient himself must pay any charge made over $3 by the doctor.

BIG FRENCH TOWN LACKS POSTOFFICE

(International News Service)

PARIS—There's a town of 8,000 people in France today that has no postoffice and no direct postal service, much to the embarrassment of the government officials.

It first came to light that such a condition existed when the populace of Laxou, all 8,000 persons, complained to postal officials of their service. Laxou is near Nancy. Letters, their complaint said, are distributed once, and very badly, late in the day by what Americans would term a rural carrier.

To mail a letter, buy stamps or handle any postal business, the inhabitants must travel the several miles to Nancy and do business with a sub-postoffice or the main office there.

TAXICAB ROBBER CAUGHT BY DRIVERS

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND—If the would-be taxicab robber only had looked behind him as he rode in his victim's cab, he probably would have used discretion and gone straight.

When fellow cab drivers grew suspicious of a 20-year-old youth who hailed the cab of Driver Vincent Shea, twelve of them formed an impromptu parade and followed. The youth took $3.75 from Shea at the point of a revolver, but when the cab stopped and he got out, he found twelve more cab drivers, armed with fence pickets, waiting for him.

Police relieved the drivers of their capture.

OREGON LEADER BLASTS PACIFISM

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore.—Oregon's fiery ex-Governor Charles H. Martin lacerated a withering blast against pacifism and branded it "wishful thinking" during a recent address before a civic club.

"Wars are here, they always have been, and they always will be. The principle that rules nations is, 'Let him take who hath the power and let him hold who can,'" said the ex-governor, a former army man.

Martin named Woodrow Wilson as "the greatest war president we ever have had." He said Wilson's estimate of the World War as a "war to end wars" was nonsense, "and he knew it."

STEAL SICK TURKEYS

(International News Service)

SCIO, Ore.—Prowlers who broke into the Scio-Linn Hatchery and nabbed several turkeys won't have the last laugh after all. All the turkeys stolen were sick birds.

About 100 species of mammals now living probably will become extinct within 100 years.

(International News Service)

CHICAGO—The lost-and-found department of a big Chicago taxicab company provides some interesting exhibits.

Harry Miller, in charge of the department said enough things were left in Chicago taxicabs during 1937 to furnish a good-sized department store, shoe shop or book store.

Waiting for their owners to come and claim them on the company's shelves there are such items as a janitor's hat, many bottles of liquor, banjos, a violin, 23 umbrellas, glasses, brief cases, cameras, pocketbooks, suit cases, 25 overcoats, 8 men's suits, a baseball bat, a fur coat, a paint spray gun, and scores of books,

Englishmen Go About Daily Fishing Activities Amidst Bursting Bombs And Shells

By HOWARD BERRY
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

LONDON.—Albert Saunders, of Chiswell, Portland, Dorsetshire, has become public hero no. 1 of southern England.

Albert, a salty old fisherman of the English Channel, has gained fame by fishing every day for the past few months amidst bursting bombs and shells in West Bay, near Portland, where Royal Air Force aircraft are engaged in firing exercises and secret anti-aircraft gun at Blacknor Fort rain their shells.

The best catches of fish are obtained in West Bay, now christened Deadman's Bay by local fishermen, and nobody but Albert and his mate,

Archie Chant, dare to venture into that zone.

Seek Square Deal
Albert and his mate persist in fishing in West Bay because by doing so they hope to get a square deal for their fellow-fishermen.

"I have been fishing in West Bay for 40 years," Albert said today, "and I don't intend to stop for anyone."

Albert and his mate, however, intend to carry on.

"What does it matter if I am blown to pieces?" Albert said.

"I am not married, and no one would miss me. But it might result in my friends getting a square deal in the future."

And Albert went on smoking his old pipe, undisturbed by the prospect of violent disturbance.

Will Take Part In School Play

Two Prominent Roles In Friday Night Performance To Be Well Handled

Jean Ruth Miller Merritt Reynolds

Reynolds will have prominent roles in the senior high school's forthcoming play, "Hooray for Youth."

Jean is no newcomer in the high school class in dramatics. While in George Washington Junior High school, she was in the cast of "Miss Jimmy." Since coming under the direction of Miss Clara Hartsuff, she has had a place in the able groups which produced "Stage Door" and "320 College Avenue." Jean is active in the life of the school community on Lincoln avenue. She is a member of the Good Citizenship Club, the chorus, and of the Squad Leaders Club of the department of physical training. During her sophomore year she was chosen home room chairman and when the Rooters Club existed she belonged to it. She is one of the able young pianists in the city. Jean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Miller of Laurel boulevard.

Merritt Reynolds is coming to the high school stage for the first time. Up to this year he has been busy in his spare time giving really valuable assistance in the high school band and in the orchestra and in the Legion band. "Snatch" has also been active in Senior Hi-Y and the Good Citizenship Club. He is now holding a full-time extra curricular job as senior class president and during his two preceding senior years was a member of the student representative body. Merritt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Reynolds, Sr., of Lathrop street.

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

Hedges around the Mahoning Methodist church, now look much better since they were trimmed. A workman was busy Saturday at the task and it greatly improves the appearance of the property.

Three farmers were seen in the fields Saturday afternoon, spading a plot for their garden. The spading was going on in the vicinity of the Shenango river, near the new road to the pottery.

The old roadway that leads to the B. & O. railroad shops and to the Universal Pottery, has now been closed to all traffic. Traffic to both of these establishments now travels along the new roadway, along the river bed.

Grass fires are again the common thing in the district. Almost the entire hillside in the vicinity of the Crawford-Oakridge home, has now been burned clear of grass and weeds. A fire Saturday burned along the hill side below the West Pittsburg road.

All of the high tension wire towers to carry power from the new power plant at West Pittsburg to the new sub-station on North Cedar street, are now in place. The wires have not yet been strung.

MISS MARION FIACCO HOSTESS TO CLUB

Miss Marian Fiocco entertained members of the Seventh Ward Jitterbug club on a recent evening in her home on West Madison avenue. Piano and violin solos and duets were featured. Dancing was enjoyed by the group, with prizes awarded to Verlee Mauermann and Betty Stritzinger.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mary Castrucci, West Madison avenue.

APPENDICITIS?—DON'T WAIT!

An acute appendix doesn't develop in a moment. When a child suffers a sudden attack, there is a story behind it. The case history usually shows that he was feeling perfectly well, but when he sat down to his meal, he didn't want to eat anything—or, if he did get some food down, it was very little. A short time later, the child will complain that he is sick—a nausea that gives him the feeling that he is going to vomit.

This may be all the child will complain of for some time, but in general he will protest that his stomach is very sore. This pain may start in the middle of the abdomen, so don't feel that just because it isn't in the lower right side that there isn't anything to worry about. However, even though the pain may be in the middle of the abdomen, if you press it the child will likely complain that it hurts more on the right side. This is the time to call your doctor, for if you wait longer, the appendix may rupture.

In most cases, vomiting is the next symptom that will be noticed. He may bring up what he had at his last meal or he may vomit only a green fluid. The pain in the abdomen will become more and more severe as the vomiting continues. If there is a sudden change in his condition and his pain is lessened a good deal, don't think that he is getting better quickly, for this change may only be due to the rupturing of the appendix which is generally accompanied by a reduction of pain.

But there are other symptoms besides those of acute appendicitis. Occasionally we see a child who has bout after bout of indigestion, consisting mostly of attacks of vomiting. A number of times I have seen attacks completely disappear after the appendix has been removed.

Acute appendicitis isn't a serious complaint if it is caught in time. In fact, of 100 children who develop it, 99 will come through the operation successfully, if you have a good surgeon—that is, if the appendix hasn't been ruptured. But in the same number of children, if the mother has waited and the appendix has broken, only 75 will live, no matter how skillful the surgeon. Even these who do survive will have to spend a long time in the hospital, and for a long, long time they will lie there, between life and death. The sad part is that these are the cases that might have been prevented if the parents had just been a little more attentive to the child's complaints.

You occasionally hear that an appendix often occurs in the left side of a patient. Of course this may happen, but I wouldn't worry much about it, for it doesn't occur once in several thousand cases.

In concluding these several articles on disease of the digestive system, it should be emphasized that while diarrhea and dysentery are very acute infections, and should be treated by a competent physician, the most dangerous of all is appendicitis. In this infection it is hours, not days, that determine whether or not the disease has been caught in time to save the child's life.

Your Federal Income Tax

ITEMS EXEMPT FROM TAX

Certain items are specifically exempt from the income tax and need not be included in the taxpayer's return of gross income. Among such items are the proceeds from life insurance policies paid by reason of the death of the insured. Amounts received (other than amounts paid by reason of the death of the insured and interest payments on such amounts and other than amounts received as annuities) under a life insurance or endowment contract, which are less than or exactly equal to the premiums or consideration paid therefor, are exempt from Federal income tax. Any excess received over the consideration paid is taxable. Amounts received as an annuity under an annuity or endowment contract shall be included in gross income except that each year the excess of the amount received over 3 percent of the aggregate premiums or consideration paid for the annuity is tax-free until the aggregate of such sums excluded from gross income for the taxable year 1938 and prior years equals the aggregate premiums or consideration paid for the annuity. There are also exempt from tax amounts received by gift, bequest, devise, or inheritance, interest on obligations of the District of Columbia, any Territory, State, county, or municipality, interest on certain bonds issued by the United States Government or its possessions, and on Federal farm loan bonds; amounts received through accident or health insurance acts for personal injury or sickness, and damages received on account of such injuries or sickness.

Pensions and compensation received by veterans from the United States are exempt; and pensions received from the United States by the family of a veteran for services rendered by the veteran to the United States in time of war are exempt, as gifts.

There is also exempt from Federal income tax the rental value of a dwelling house and appurtenances thereof furnished to a minister of the gospel as part of his compensation. Other items excluded from gross income are alimony and city jury fees.

The Coronation Scot, Great Britain's new luxury rail streamliner will be exhibited at the Pennsylvania Railroad station in Pittsburgh Saturday, March 25. It was learned at Pennsylvania offices here, that the train, fresh from the builders and a trial run in England, will be on its way to the New York World's Fair.

Local Pennsylvania officials could not state today whether or not the train will even pass near New Castle. Three million Britishers inspected the Scot in that country.

The mills of justice are grinding today, although this week's grinding is just the initial step. The grand jury met this morning and for the next couple of days will be considering transcripts of cases handed up to them.

The grand jury is in actuality the "grand inquest" and for the county of Lawrence. It does not pass upon the guilt or innocence of a defendant. It merely hears the commonwealth's testimony to ascertain if there is sufficient evidence to warrant going into a trial.

The defense does not present arguments to the grand jury. This is the function of the petit jury which serves the following week. If the grand jury finds there is sufficient evidence to warrant a trial, it returns a True Bill and the case goes to trial. If insufficient evidence is presented Not a True Bill is returned and the defendant is freed. The grand jury gets through its list of cases quicker than the trial juries for the reason that it listens to less testimony and returns no verdict as to guilt or innocence. After considering cases the grand jury inspects the court house properties, makes recommendations for improvements and then signs its return.

Argument was heard before the court Saturday morning in the case of Independent Grocers against the Streamline Stores. An action was brought against the Streamline for violation of the Fair Trade Act. Counsel for the Streamline argued that the action should be dismissed in view of the fact that two lower courts had pronounced the act unconstitutional. No opinion was handed down by the court.

College Girls Given Some Ideas On Charm

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, March 6.—Women may be "beautiful but dumb," but no woman can be "charming but dumb," Dean of Women Mary E. Turner told Westminster college students here in an address on "How to be charming".

Dean Turner laid down 15 maxims concerning charm for co-eds to always keep in mind if they wished to understand charm and be charming:

1. Men are as much interested that women be charming, as women themselves.
2. Charm is more than perfect manners. It is based on an unselfish attitude.
3. Charm cannot be inherited from charming mothers; but the environment of a charming home will help.
4. Shyness and a feeling of inferiority do as much to undermine charm, as a dominating attitude.
5. One of the most important rules of charm is to always have yourself "under control".

6. Dare to be yourself. Don't follow the crowd.
7. College work should be an adventure, not an obligation.
8. Enlarge your vocabulary. Eliminate slang.
9. Strive to be immaculate in care of skin, hair, hands, teeth, and fingernails.
10. Take "beauty naps" if necessary to be completely rested. No "tired" woman can be charming.
11. Refrain from smoking and drinking.
12. Use cosmetics sparingly and wisely.
13. Know the social code of etiquette: how to eat, introduce people, when to stand or sit, when to talk, and how to listen.
14. Don't be conspicuous: be quiet rather than noisy in dress, laughter and talk.
15. Remember that etiquette is based on kindness and consideration for others.

Harry H. Thompson to H. Meade Thompson, 3rd ward $1.

The mills of justice are grinding today, although this week's grinding is just the initial step. The grand jury met this morning and for the next couple of days will be considering transcripts of cases handed up to them.

The grand jury is in actuality the "grand inquest" and for the county of Lawrence. It does not pass upon the guilt or innocence of a defendant. It merely hears the commonwealth's testimony to ascertain if there is sufficient evidence to warrant going into a trial.

The defense does not present arguments to the grand jury. This is the function of the petit jury which serves the following week. If the grand jury finds there is sufficient evidence to warrant a trial, it returns a True Bill and the case goes to trial. If insufficient evidence is presented Not a True Bill is returned and the defendant is freed. The grand jury gets through its list of cases quicker than the trial juries for the reason that it listens to less testimony and returns no verdict as to guilt or innocence. After considering cases the grand jury inspects the court house properties, makes recommendations for improvements and then signs its return.

Argument was heard before the court Saturday morning in the case of Independent Grocers against the Streamline Stores. An action was brought against the Streamline for violation of the Fair Trade Act. Counsel for the Streamline argued that the action should be dismissed in view of the fact that two lower courts had pronounced the act unconstitutional. No opinion was handed down by the court.

During the week past 28 Democrats changed to Republicans, 11 new Republicans were added to the registry list, 2 new Democrats and one No Party.

Best Attendance Record Sunday

Four Star Increase Campaign In Churches Gets Big Boost Yesterday

CAMPAIGN GAINS MUCH MOMENTUM

Yesterday was the best Sunday to date in the "Four Star" increase campaign that lasts until Easter, being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association. Every participating Sunday School had its best attendance in New Castle, and of the 65 Sunday schools enrolled, all but 5 had the best attendance of the campaign to date yesterday.

The church attendance of the reporting Sunday schools was also good. The highest percentages were as follows: Highland U. P., 81 percent of Sunday school in church; Second U. P., 74 percent; First U. P., 61 percent; Reformed Presbyterian 60 percent; Central Christian, 59 percent; Third U. P., 56 percent; First Christian 55 percent; and Croton M. E., 51 percent. The Central Christian has a Bible Study class with an attendance of 50 and the First Baptist has the most successful Evangelistic classes reported so far.

The church attendance of the country schools was a rule to not have the church attendance problem to the same degree as the city churches. The highest percentage reported was the Volant Presbyterian with 86 percent of Sunday school remaining for church.

The Central Presbyterian Sunday School of New Castle has furnished the back figures and has enrolled. They already have a bright cluster of stars.

The attendance at the Ellwood City schools was reported good for yesterday, but the figures for two out of thirteen are all that have been reported as yet. These two Sunday schools had stars.

The New Bedford U. P. is a new Sunday school enrolled from Pulaski District. They already have 27 bright stars.

New Girl Scout Poster

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, honorary president of the Girl Scouts, smiles approval of the new 1939 Girl Scout poster being shown to her by Mrs. Paul Rittenhouse, national director, during a recent visit to national headquarters, New York City. The vivid painting is the work of Lawrence Wilbur, noted illustrator, who has done three previous posters for the organization. Its copy, "Girl Scouts Look Ahead", sums up the organization's objective of preparing girls for sound citizenship. The Girl Scouts also are looking ahead this year to a new membership mark of 600,000. They passed the first half million mark during 1938.

Remove Aliens From WPA Rolls

Find 38 Aliens In Lawrence County In Checking Over Rolls Here

Check of those working on WPA projects in Lawrence County revealed the fact that there were 38 aliens on the WPA rolls here, who have been removed and placed on direct relief, District Manager Walter M. Todd stated today.

In Mercer county, there were 10 and in Beaver county eight. The report from Butler county has not yet been received at the district office here, but the number in Butler county is believed to be small.

Aliens have been taken off the rolls from time to time in the past. It was stated, but during the past two weeks, a notary public has accompanied an inspector to all relief projects, requiring those working to make an affidavit as to their citizenship.

Welsh Enjoy Banquet Event

St. David's Day Anniversary Is Celebrated On Saturday Night

OVER 200 ATTEND
EVENT AT HOTEL

Saturday evening, March 4, the St. David's banquet was held at the Castleton Hotel, when over two hundred Welsh-Americans and friends assembled. The occasion was under the auspices of the Star of Wales and Martha Lodges, of the True Iovites of America, of this city. In the lobbies of the hotel, for a short period, prior to entering the banquet room, there was exchange of greetings among those assembled, some having not met for a number of years.

At the opening of the banquet the hymn "America" was sung by all led by Emrys Davies and the invocation given by Griff Thomas.

The toastmaster, Rev. Rees T. Williams, of the First Congregational church, thanked, on behalf of those assembled, both Iovites Lodges for this splendid banquet. He said "Wherever you find Welsh people, during this first week of March, the spirit of St. David integrates their lives anew."

President Judge W. Walter Bramham, a guest, was introduced, sitting at the speaker's table. A contralto solo was sung by Miss Cecelia Hughes, accompanied by Mrs. John M. Evans, who was the accompanist of the evening.

A telegram of greetings to New Castle was read by the toastmaster from Lord Harlech, who was the guest speaker at the Pittsburgh St. David's banquet, the same evening Lord Harlech, with Sir Cyril Fox and Lady Fox, have come to America, to thank Welsh-Americans for the support they have given to the Welsh-American wing of the National Museum of Wales.

Two duets were sung by George Anthony and Harry Evans, accompanied by Edwin Lewis. A recitation was delivered by Mrs. Stewart Cope, Pep singing, heartily joined in by all, was capably led by Emrys Davies, throughout the evening.

Introduce Leaders

The toastmaster, introduced Mrs. Rees Price, as president of Martha Lodge, and David Price, president of Star of Wales Lodge and each brought greetings from their respective lodges.

The committees of arrangements, beside the two presidents, were Daniel Hughes, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Jones, Mrs. Daniel Garrity, Mrs. David Lewis, Mrs. Ben Fowler, Miss Elizabeth Rees, James Davies, and David Harris.

Daniel Hughes, grand secretary, of the Iovites of America, was introduced and made some fitting remarks on the principles of Iovism, and its benefits in everyday life.

Of much interest to all, was the singing by Ann, less than 3 years daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richards, of the Welsh hymn "Cannon Ian," and English hymn, and "London Bridge."

"Jesus, lover of my soul," tune "Aberystwyth" was sung by the assembly in memory of G. Emrys Hopkins, late president of National Gymnasia Gannu, buried Saturday afternoon "Gwaed Dy groes" tune "Pen Calfarina" was sung by request of Dr. Griffiths who was delighted.

The guest speaker, Dr. Ivor Griffiths, Dean of the College of Pharmacy of Philadelphia, was introduced by the toastmaster. The speaker referred to the "sopistic" introduction of Rev. Williams, and that generally there was "lye" in soap. Dr. Griffiths spoke of the general characteristics of the Welsh people, of their love of freedom, song, Christianity, learning and the arts, and of their influence upon America and the world.

William Pritchard, 82, the oldest Iovite present was introduced also William A. Davies, Aliquippa, the oldest charter member of Star of Wales Lodge.

Two baritone solos were sung by David Lewis, accompanied by Mrs. John M. Evans. Two selections were sung by the Male Chorus directed by David Lewis, accompanied by Clifford James.

Griff Thomas, sang the solo, and all joined in the chorus, of the Welsh National anthem, "Hen Wlad Fy Nhadau" (land of my fathers).

Dr. John Sutherland Quits Coaching Post At Pitt University

Tenders Resignation To Chancellor Bowman Saturday, May Take Southern Post

May Take Four Assistants With Him To New School, Resignation Likely Will Be Accepted

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, March 6.—Chancellor John G. Bowman today accepted the resignation of Coach Dr. John B. "Jock" Sutherland from the University of Pittsburgh, effective immediately.

By WILLIAM THEIS International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, March 6.—Dr. John B. "Jock" Sutherland today only a nod from his alma mater to-day before ending the 15-year coaching term that made him synonymous with "powerhouse" football at the University of Pittsburgh.

His resignation as Pitt's head football coach accompanied by a request for its immediate acceptance despite a two-year notice agreement in his contract, was in the hands of Chancellor John G. Bowman.

Although Bowman promised an announcement this morning, it was considered a foregone conclusion that the university would release the tall Scot from his present contract. Frequently rumored, the resignation climaxes recent years of athletic dissension at Pitt.

May Go South Sutherland sent his resignation to the chancellor Saturday morning, a few hours following publication by International News Service of authoritative information that he was considering a coaching offer from Mississippi State. The resignation, however, was not accepted here as necessarily spelling his decision to sign the Mississippi contract he has had since last week.

Sutherland plainly does not see eye to eye with Bowman on the university's present football "de-emphasis" program—the "code Bowman." Conferences last week failed to bridge the gap.

With Sutherland will go one of the most amazing coaching records of present-day football—111 games won, 20 lost and 12 tied during his 15 seasons at Pitt. Before succeeding Glenn S. "Pop" Warner as Pitt coach in 1924, "Jock" played as a Warner star guard in 1915, 1916 and 1917.

Resignation Confirmed Confirmation of the Sutherland resignation was given last night by John Weber, business manager and secretary of the university.

"Yes, Dr. Bowman has the resignation letter," he said. "The chancellor is going to sleep on it and will have an announcement in the morning."

Deeper in the record of Pitt athletic policy vicissitudes lay an old feud between Sutherland and W. Don Harrison, former Pitt athletic director. Harrison resigned his post just two years ago after a tiff with "Jock" in Los Angeles, following the 1937 Rose Bowl game in which Pitt trounced Washington University. He is now back with Pitt as an extension college official.

New Wilmington In Semi-Final Tussle On Tuesday Night

"Greyhounds" Will Face East Pittsburgh High At Pitt Stadium

New Wilmington high school's championship bound basketball team returns to the Pitt stadium again Tuesday night, this time to face East Pittsburgh high, section 16 winner, in the semi-final round of the class B W. P. I. A. A. tournament.

The local "Greyhounds" advanced by spilling Apollo high and West Newton, the tourney favorite, last Thursday night. The road gets tougher as the Section 20 cagers trot down the finish line. Coach John Eagleson sent his proteges through a lengthy workout on the Westminster college hardwood Saturday morning. Another drill is slated for today. Despite the fact that the local champs have copped both of their elimination clashes, they have not had an "on night," Coach Eagleson stated. He firmly believes that his club is slated for one of those "nights."

Paul "Lefty" Minner is proving the hit of the tournament, and justifiably so. Covered all evening by a pair of huskies, the 15-year-old performer managed to register 15 markers. His six consecutive fouls before a gallery of 3,700, won lots of praise. The outcome of the clash tomorrow evening hinges on Minner. His 32 points, in both frays, really pulled the Greyhounds thru. Captain Jack Mercer has been playing a bang-up game defensively but has failed to cash in on the scoring column, something unusual for the likeable athlete. The ball handling of Newton and Sharp should help to solve the defense to be presented by the East Smoky City cagers.

New Wilmington will be followed by more than 250 persons, according to Principal Whitman. The tickets are selling rapidly. Ducaats are on sale in New Wilmington and at the Sporting Goods store.

College Gymnasts Sign For 'Y' Show

Slippery Rock Squad Booked For Indoor Circus April 13-14

The crack gym team of Slippery Rock State Teacher's college, famed for its skill at gymnastics, will come to New Castle April 13 and 14 to perform in the annual "Barn 'em In & Ball 'em Out" circus at the Y. M. C. A.

Advance indications are that the gym carnival this spring will be one of the most entertaining the "Y" has ever sponsored. Preparations have been in progress for several weeks. Eighteen acts are planned.

The Slippery Rock gymnasts, it is learned, will provide a thrilling show for circus attendants. One of their acts is one of the most difficult any gymnasts ever attempt. They will perform two acts.

Tickets are now being printed. The sales will be limited to prevent an overflow crowd from jamming the gym.

The circus usually lasts two hours.

Ellwood City To See Fistics

Boxing Show Expected To Aid Hospital Orthopedic Appliance Fund

GOOD AMATEURS ARE CALENDARED

One week from tonight in the Ellwood City High School gymnasium there will be staged a fistic endeavor, consisting of nine battles, for the benefit of the Hospital Orthopedic Appliance fund. Indications point to an over-flow crowd because 18 fighters will be present, among them, several champions.

The show, sponsored by lodge 1356, Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, a great organization and one which always is striving to do something for the welfare of the public at large, and their sponsorship of the coming fistic enterprise, bears out the assertion.

And with capable men at the active end of the promotion, fans should witness a great fight when that sterling bantamweight champion of the National A. A. U., Joe McKenna, of Pittsburgh, toes the mark with Frankie Ort of West Virginia who because of many wins can crow lustily.

However, they are not the only good amateurs on the calendar; indeed not. For instance, there are Woody Sweeney, 126 pound champion of the A. A. U. division of the A. A. U., for three years, who will tackle Billy Murray, Follansbee who is the featherweight champion of West Virginia amateurs.

Benny Bartle, Ellwood City's rugged middleweight, who doesn't know the word "retreat" has been matched with Vic Ferrand. In this scrap fans will see a lot of slug and also in the Ernie Priole, of Monaca and Steve Kowalek of Pittsburgh scrap at 147 pounds.

Nick Retardo, the popular Ellwoodian will take on Regis O'Brien, the chubby-faced Irishman from Pittsburgh and if there isn't a world of action every minute in this encounter then the writer is not telling what he truthfully believes will occur; but collecting sassafras.

Another slugging match should materialize when Mike Wakas, the jumping-jack from Monaca tangles with the solid-socking Chuck Arkett of West Pittsburg, in a lightweight encounter. Arkett is one of the most seasoned of amateurs in western Pennsylvania.

Baby Retardo of Ellwood City and Billy Sweeney, 112 pounds, or lads who are no larger than a shell glass but who like to furnish a lot of action will please the feminine fans and Moon Robertson, Ellwood City, will get a chance to even up with Joey Varos of Monaca, at 126.

According to Merritt Book the first bout will start at 8:30 p. m. in 11 p. m.-7 a. m. shift can witness the battles and aid the cause, before reporting for work. It will be the first boxing show in Ellwood City for more than a year.

Make Six In Row

Waynesburg made six points in a row, on Sumner's under-the-basket shot, Anthony's hook and free toss, followed by Besler and Simmers, and Besler's side toss. Spak scored on a hook-shot, but Sumner's came back with a dribble-shot close in. Three points came for the Titans on Hetra's charity-throw and a lone one from the side-line. On a tip-in and an under the basket underhand toss, the Jackets made four points.

Throughout the third quarter, the Titans made valiant efforts to close up the 11-point halftime disadvantage, and narrowed the Wolfpack lead to five points at third-quarter time.

Score For Westminster

Beisler opened the halftime scoring, but Patton, Wilson, and Hetra scored in rapid order for Westminster. Beisler made an under-the-basket toss followed by Byers' charity-throw, and Hetra's side toss. Hetra came through with shove-up tosses, and crept up to a 33-27 score. Sumner's long toss and two free throws ended the third quarter Wolfpack scoring, as Patton took a free one, and Hetra made three long ones to end the third quarter 39-34 in favor of Waynesburg.

On goals by Hetra and Wilson and Patton's free ones, while Simmers was taking a side shot, the Titans crept up to within 2 points, 41-39, but for every basket from then on, the Wolfpack countered with something as good, and in spite of Hetra's one-man attack from the center of

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Local sport tattle . . . Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh has promised to tell all tonight when he addresses members of the New Castle Exchange club in The Castleton. The topic will be "In Between Halves." Lot of district coaches would give anything to know . . . A big crowd is expected to be on hand Tuesday to see the city-county tournament contestants tee-off in the George Washington Junior high floor. The 24 quints should put on a whale of a basketball show. The affair will benefit the New Castle Music Council, which purchases band necessities, other than uniforms, for the three junior highs.

The aftermath . . . That ping-pong paragon printed here several days ago stirred quite a bit of interest among followers of the game. For one thing, the Cosmo club members rolled up their sleeves and held themselves a tournament. The column engineer was informed that Rabbi Norman Diamond, of Temple Israel, is one of the slickers and deserves a spot in the upper bracket. Only last week, Rabbi Diamond pinned back the ears of Mayer Broida. From the South Side came a yell that Al Jones can stick up against anyone in town. "Bus" Reiber included . . . Still another buzz telling 46 to mention "Fuzzy" Raffel and Roland Levine along with those on the selected list . . . Another follower says a tournament will decide this question . . . The Cosmoites are all set to compete. Charles Maier, head of the athletic division of the club, has a team all set and rarin' to go.

Baseball briefs . . . Melvin Ott celebrated his 30th birthday in an appropriate manner, three homers off his buddy, Carl Hubbell . . . Rudy "I don't want to play in the outfield" York, of the Tigers, did likewise in his opening workout . . . Joe DiMaggio's 1939 contract calls for $26,000 instead of the $22,000 hike.

Facts for sport fans . . . Mickey Walker's take in during his boxing career of eight years, amounted to $1,250,000. All he has to show for it is a pretty badly battered map . . . Nick Altrock, the clown prince of baseball, was a fair pitcher. Back in 1898, with "Grand Rapids," he won 21 games . . . James T. Ryan, with Harvard back in 1877, was the first ever to wear a baseball mask . . . Despite the fact that Newark is much larger than the neighboring New Jersey town of Atlantic City, most of Newark's American Football league home games next season will be played in the famed summer resort's stadium.

Word that he signed called for a celebration in the land of Yanks . . . Jimmy Fox's initial trip to the plate was a 400 smash which sailed over the left field barrier . . . Bill Terry is keeping Zeke Bonura in after school. Just to teach him a little foot work around the initial sack . . . Twelve out of the 15 Cincinnati pitchers are 6 feet or taller.

Odds and ends . . . Today's rib tickler . . . Philadelphia wrestling crowds are tossing eggs, tomatoes and such at contestants. Only recently, an egg landed squarely on huge Hans Steinke's bald head in his match with Jim London. Sounds like a warmup for the Phillies! Rocky Kansas, former lightweight champion, has a job in the Buffalo City garage . . . "Babe" Ruth and Walte Hoyt, a pair of former Yankee greats, are shopping around for a managerial post. In the meantime, Waite is broadcasting, while the Sultan of Swat is sharpening up on his golf. P. S. Both still consider the National league a minor circuit, so they told Pat Robinson, I. N. S. scribe . . . Buddy Knox, the lad who lost to Nathan Mann, Glanz, Hungarian pro, covers 50,000 miles a year playing table tennis.

Westminster Defeated By Waynesburg 46-45

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., March 6.—Waynesburg's Wolfpack was a point better than the Westminster Titans, and blasted the Titans hope for conference honors here Saturday night in a 46-45 thriller that hung by a thread until the final shot. At halftime, the Waynesburg five held an 11-point advantage, 28-17.

High-point honors for the evening went to Bob Simmers, Wolfpack center, with 19 points made on eight field goals and 3 free-throws. Close behind him was J. Hetra of the Titans with 15 points and Beisler, Waynesburg, forward, with 13.

Hetra Features

An early Waynesburg lead 4-0 was wiped out by the Titans, who forged ahead to an 8-6 lead, when they were passed. Never again did they head off the Wolfpack drive. In the closing quarter, Hetra's five long-shots from mid-floor kept the Titans in the game, but the Wolfmen froze the ball in the closing five minutes, and kept the Blue and White away from any close-in scoring attack.

The passing of the Waynesburg team was fast and deceptive, and behind perfect screening and blocking, Simmers and Beisler smothered the Titans with close-in shots in the end-zone.

Waynesburg went into an early lead as Pasquale took one close-in, followed by Penn's long shot from mid-floor. Spak retaliated with three free-throws and the Titans made a close-in shot to put the Titans momentarily ahead 5-4. Miller's free toss was capped by Anthony's close-in basket. Patton scored on a steal to put the Titans ahead 8-6, but the Jackets tied the score 8 all on Simmer's marked close in. Throughout the first half, the Waynesburg five remained in the lead.

Make Six In Row

Waynesburg made six points in a row, on Sumner's under-the-basket shot, Anthony's hook and free toss, followed by Besler and Simmers, and Besler's side toss. Spak scored on a hook-shot, but Sumner's came back with a dribble-shot close in. Three points came for the Titans on Hetra's charity-throw and a lone one from the side-line. On a tip-in and an under the basket underhand toss, the Jackets made four points.

Throughout the third quarter, the Titans made valiant efforts to close up the 11-point halftime disadvantage, and narrowed the Wolfpack lead to five points at third-quarter time.

Score For Westminster

Beisler opened the halftime scoring, but Patton, Wilson, and Hetra scored in rapid order for Westminster. Basketball's most famous team—the New York Celtics—pay their first visit here in several years tonight, facing the New Castle Boosters, on The Arena court. The game starts at 8 o'clock.

Everyone of the well known cage stars, Bobby McDermott, Davey Banks, Dutch Dehnert, Nat Hickey, Herbert Bonn, Pat Herlihy and Rusty Saunders will appear in the lineup against the local aggregation. Trading Reflects World
SentimentBy LESLIE GOULD

cial Writer

NEW YORK, March 6.—The stock market firmed today after weathering mild profit-taking in a mixed and quiet opening. Most price changes were extremely narrow and trading was dull.

Markets abroad continued to reflect increasing European optimism for higher trade and securities prices, and growing hopes for peace on the continent. London, Paris and Amsterdam were generally improved. While the Dutch guilder maintained a sluggish tone, other foreign currencies gained a little ground.

On the local market, Allied Chemical stood out with a spurt of 3 points. United Fruit and American Telephone each were up a point to new highs for the year, while Coca-Cola gained about as much. DuPont and U. S. Smelting each dropped a point before meeting support.

In Exciting GameJimmy Gottuso Sinks Winning Basket In Final Minute Of Game For Local's Win

ELLWOOD CITY, March 6.—Staging a spectacular last minute rally that sent the fans into a frenzy of excitement, the Shelby Socials won an exciting game over the strong St. Mary's team at the Shelby court on Saturday night at the Shelby court.

The game was a single point game with the final score reading Socials 45 and St. Mary's 44. Jumping to a 12-7 lead in the first period, the invaders took an early start and held their lead until the final minutes of the game. With the score 44-39 in favor of the visitors, the Shelby Socials sank field goals, Stasick and Gottuso sank field goals and with less than a minute remaining, Gottuso added the basket that won the game. Bang-up defensive games were played by Robert Buck and Lattiano. Individual scoring honors went to Jimmy Gottuso, who collected six baskets and four charity tosses for a total of 16 points. Decico and Oliver were "big shots" for the losers with thirteen points each.

Trouncing the Office 56-34, the Cold Finish gained at least a tie for the second half crown in the preliminary game. The Cold Finish needs only to win Wednesday night's encounter with the Inspection to win the second half championship. With Greco and Tammato leading the attack for the winners, the Cold Draw gained the front position in the second period and was never headed.

On Wednesday night the Inspection will play the Cold Finish and the Hot Finish will meet the Office. The final exhibition game of the season has been planned for Saturday night when the Socials will be hosts to the Christy Park five of McKeesport.

Norma Shearer To Star Alone In "The Women"

By MILTON HARKER
(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, March 6.—The ambitious plan of M-G-M to co-star Norma Shearer and Joan Crawford, two of its highest priced feminine stars, in "The Women," has been abandoned. Miss Shearer will do the play alone. That was the original idea but then cropped up what seemed the better one of using two top-flighters.

No explanation has been forthcoming for reverting back to the original, but it's understood the studio big-wigs decided there could be only one real stand-out role and that the use of Miss Crawford might only serve to subordinate her to Miss Shearer. That, obviously, wouldn't be good for a star who is getting a total of $1,500,000 for a five-year term.

"The Women" goes before the cameras in three weeks with George Cukor directing.

Victor Fleming who succeeded Cukor as director on "Gone With the Wind," is a busy man indeed as he does his first day's work on the picture.

He is working in a scene with two novices in pictures, George Bessolo, of Ashland, Ky., and Fred Crane, from New Orleans, who happen to be among the few southerners in this southern epic. They play the Tarleton twins.

Bessolo has been with the Pasadena Community Players, which have furnished Hollywood with many stars, for three years. Crane's

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 38 to 42), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells.

Just get more fresh air, 4 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vitality to enjoy life and assist calming jittery nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life.

Pinkham's is WELL WORTH trying.

ROBINS

only theatrical experience was with the Loyola Thespians of New Orleans.

The scene they are shooting is one in which the Tarleton twins are standing in amazement at Scarlett O'Hara's actions after they have dropped the news that Ashley Wilkes is going to marry Melanie.

It's on the front steps of Tara, the O'Hara mansion, and let it be said here Selznick has created a beautiful southern mansion on his back lot. This reporter, who has lived much in the south, knows whereof he speaks.

Fleming, who knows what he wants and how to get it, knows too that Bessolo and Crane must be nervous. He talks to them calmly, soothingly.

And on the edge of the set is Scarlett, Vivien Leigh, in a summery dress and a picture hat. She is smelling a rose and as she sits there in repose she looks very beautiful indeed, anything but the vixen the Tarleton twins are talking about before the camera. This lady grows on you.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

"Gray hair makes one look so distinguished" rushed Mrs. B. There are many young people who do not feel this way.

They have premature gray hair and are sensitive about it.

Heredity plays a considerable part in turning hair gray.

The nervous system is believed to contribute to this change.

Hair is a very definite indication of racial differences.

Its color, consistency, and form vary with the races.

Some have short, crisp, "wooly" hair, others, straight, long hair.

There are the wavy or curly, smooth and silky types.

But red hair is not characteristic of any clime or race.

When a person has gray hair he may dye it a dark shade.

But no dye will restore the natural color of the hair.

In a large family it was found that the family combs could be cleaned satisfactorily by putting them in the washing machine like the rest of the laundry. Be sure you don't absentlymindedly put them through the wringer, however.
